

Evelina Vorontsova

As a prize winner of the prestigious Rachmaninoff Competition (Moscow) with an extra special prize for the best performance of the composer's Preludes and Etudes-Tableaux at only the age of seventeen, a prize winner of the International Franz Liszt Piano Competition (Utrecht), the International Piano Competition (Padua) and the International Piano and Orchestra Competition (Cantù) it is certain that the Russian-Dutch Evelina Vorontsova is a masterpianist with an excellent performance history.

Unique Sound

Evelina's repertoire stretches from Baroque to contemporary music. This vast repertoire involves a total command of the keys, which affects her playing in such a manner that she is often described as being able to paint a wide range of colours on the instrument. Her cantabile legato and "ardent fervour" (Luister) mark a clear Romantic approach to both interpretation and playing. Valentin Zhuk and Mikhail Voskresensky described her playing as "with a deep singing and unique sound at the piano and with understanding of both form and style, her performing to "get-and-keep the attention of the audience". An observation confirmed by reviewers, who are unanimously ecstatic about her latest Rachmaninoff cd (2016) which has received only excellent reviews, ranging from "awe-inspiring" (International Piano, 5 out of 5) to "formidable technical virtuosity" (MusicWeb), "superior noblesse" (Opus Klassiek) and "heart-felt interpretations of great intensity" (de Volkskrant). The album has been chosen as Recording of the Month (Stereophile, U.S.) and as Recording of the day (Artamag', France) and has had airplay on Dutch and international radio stations. It is no surprise then that audiences often say that they are deeply impressed by the flowing serenity of her music, finesse in pianissimo and her lyrical prowess.

Collaborations

Evelina has collaborated with various international orchestras conducted by Sir Yehudi Menuhin and Lev Markiz, on whom Vorontsova's playing left a deep impression. She has also played with Jan Stulen, Stewart Robertson, and Aleksander Wakulsky, and participated in many chamber music projects with Herman Krebbers, Sidney Harth, Valentin Zhuk, Igor and Vesna Gruppman, Vera Beths, Leonid Gorokov, Dimitri Ferschtman, Natasha Korsakova, Marina Shaguch, Leonid Kerbel, Sergei Ostrovsky, Jeroen den Herder, Micha Quint, Ilya Laporev, Daniël Rowland, Arturo Muruzabal, Timora Rosler, Anton Istomin, The Fransiscus Quartet and notably Boudewijn Zwart. Many of these collaborations as well as her solo recitals took place in renowned concert halls, such as The Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Teatro Communale in Bologna, the Suginami Koukaidou in Tokyo, the Great Hall of the Moscow Conservatory and the Tchaikovsky Concert Hall in Russia. Aside from a career as a performing artist, Evelina Vorontsova has given masterclasses in France, Japan, Russia, Germany, Denmark, Spain, Italy and the Netherlands.

Education

Evelina Vorontsova was born in Moscow in a family of pianists. Once Evelina had received lessons from the renowned Rudolf Kehrer, her father's teacher, it was obvious for her to become a concert pianist. Her first public recital was at the age of 6, and at the age of 11 she made her orchestral debut and her first TV-performance in the Great Hall of the Moscow Conservatory. Yehudi Menuhin, being impressed by her talent, would later acknowledge her talent by personally inviting her to play at his last festival. Evelina studied at the Central School of Music for Talented Children and the Tchaikovsky State Conservatory in Moscow, where she completed her undergraduate (1995) and post-graduate studies cum laude (1997) under the legendary Mikhail Voskresensky and Elena Kuznetsova. Their collaboration lasted for 12 years. After her performance in the Franz Liszt Piano competition in Utrecht (1992), she sustained a concert career from Amsterdam. She continued her studies with Jan Wijn and graduated at the Conservatory of Amsterdam in 1999.

Activities

Currently, Evelina is active as a recitalist, as part of the duo Vorontsova & Thouvenin, and as part of the ARTIMUSICA Ensemble and Gruppman Ensemble. She is also president of the ARTIMUSICA Foundation which supports music marathons, cross-over musical experiments and piano heritage projects.
